ZONING

Zoning creates a rhythm in the office. There can be moments of connection, moments of retreat, and moments of deep work.

This balance supports well-being, reduces burnout, and fosters a sense of belonging. When people can shift between zones throughout the day, they naturally match their space to their task, creating a healthier, more intuitive workflow.

BREAKROOM

Color Impacts Your Work

Color plays a defining role in shaping the emotional experience of a breakroom. A well-designed breakroom should feel lively, restorative, and foster a sense of community. It should be a place where employees can both recharge and reconnect.

According to color psychology, warm tones introduce a sense of comfort and familiarity, grounding the space in a home-like warmth. Layering in intentional pops of color keeps the environment feeling dynamic and uplifting. Together, this creates a balanced atmosphere where relaxation and rejuvenation can coexist.

The Heart of the Workplace

In the Skyline Office remodel, the breakroom becomes a defining element of the design. Reimagining the breakroom with varied seating and clear zones for relaxing and socializing directly supports the social-zone hierarchy. Warm, cozy pops of color create an inviting atmosphere that contrasts the work areas and encourages employees to pause, reset, and return with clarity. In this redesign, the breakroom transforms into a meaningful escape within the workday.

Sleek Lines Meet Soft Edges

This redesign simplifies the condo's layout by opening the plan to create a cleaner, more intuitive flow. Charcoal black finishes paired with oak wood grounds the space in modern sophistication, while soft olive tones add warmth, calm, and a sense of quiet luxury.

To elevate the presentation, I expanded my hand-rendering techniques across floor plans and elevations, adding texture and depth that balance modern precision with a human touch. The result is a sleek, updated interior softened by materials and colors that feel restorative to both the eye and the soul.

MID-CENTURY MODERN

Project Brief

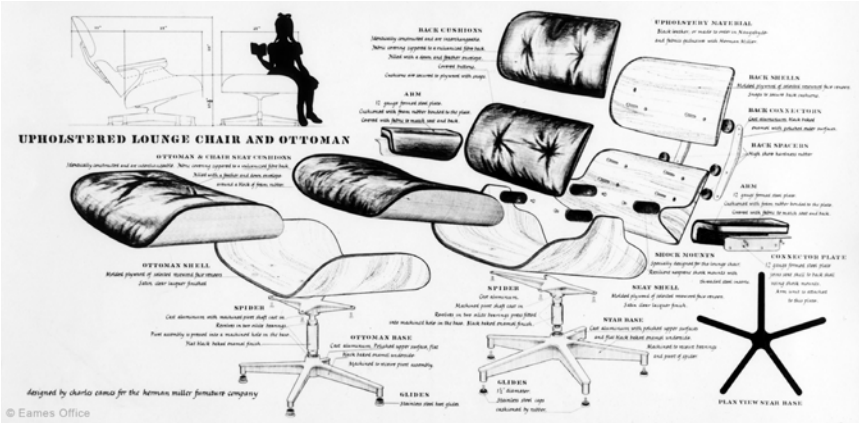

This project is a remodel of Room 801 at Ensign College as a one-bed, one-bath condo. The design is heavily inspired by the principles of mid-century modernism with my goal to honor and incorporate the iconic and historical roots of the style.

Florence Knoll

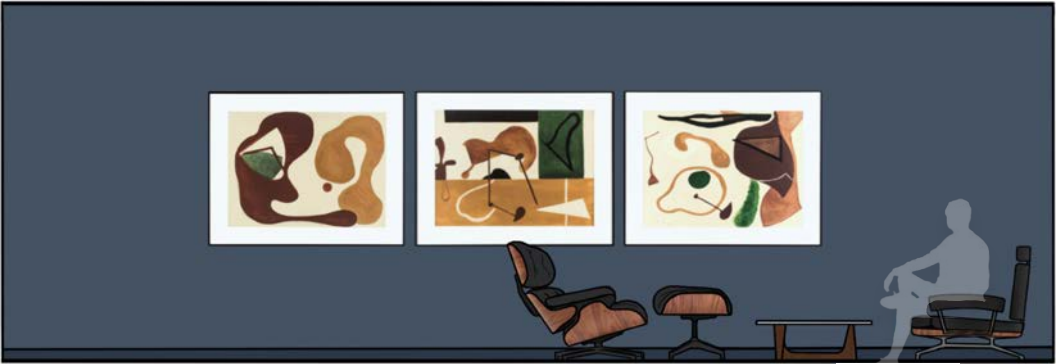

Ray Eames

Lines to Remember

My study of interior design history led me to develop a deep appreciation for mid-century modern design. Looking back at the cultural, political, and technological shifts of the mid-20th century reveals how profoundly those forces shaped the style. Designers like Florence Knoll and Charles and Ray Eames became personal icons to me as I explored their ability to merge creativity, functionality, and innovation.

SCHEMATIC DESIGN

A Home Rooted in Luxury, Designed for Tomorrow

This space will provide dramatic elegance and upgraded appliances while maintaining the comfort and security needed in a home for future buyers.

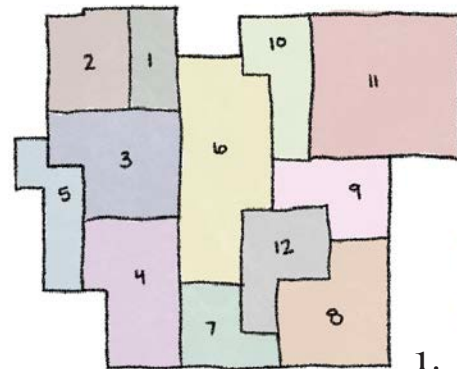

Project Brief

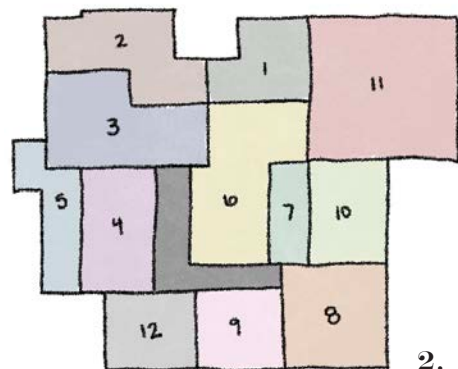

An up and coming realtor has acquired an outdated estate in Bountiful, Utah, and has commissioned a full-scale remodel to transform the property into a high-value, market-ready showpiece. The priority is clear: reimagine the home in a way that maximizes resale potential and elevates its appeal to today's buyers.

Key architectural and lifestyle upgrades enhance the home's desirability. A grand kitchen island with integrated booth seating, a playful bunk-bedroom retreat in the basement designed for families, and a sensually updated primary suite bring on a whole new level of character.

Luxury Gets Smart

The high-end bidet toilet transforms a basic fixture into a daily luxury. For new buyers, it signals thoughtful design and a home built for long-lasting comfort and flexibility.

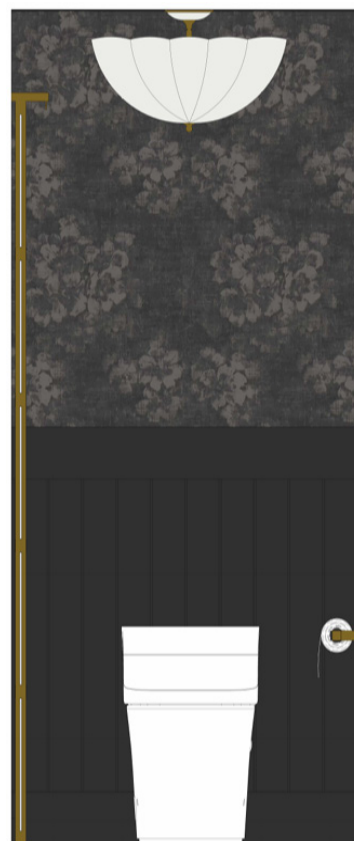

The bathroom's design seamlessly complements the aesthetic of the entire home, carrying the same refined palette into a more intimate space adding both warmth and visual depth.

Smart Bidet Toilet

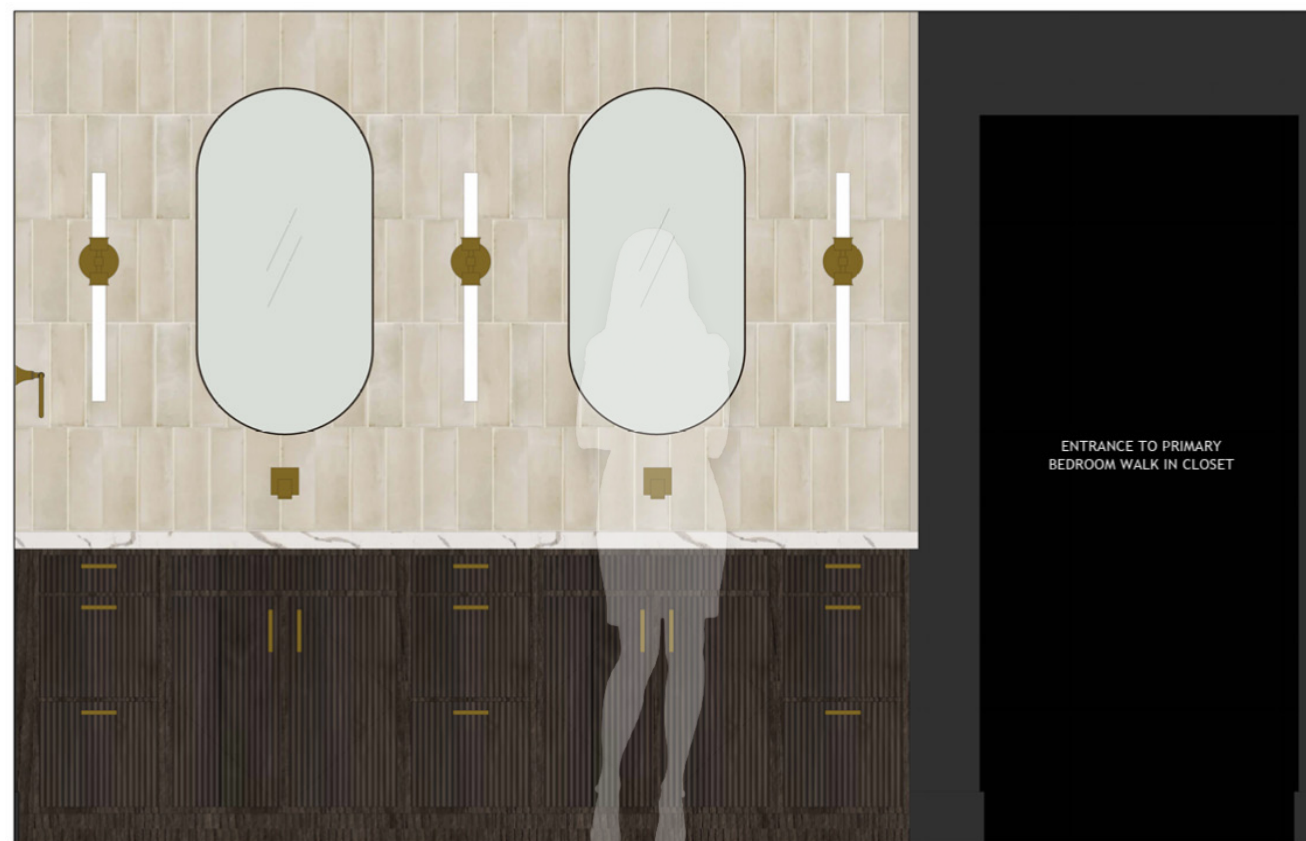

Design Meets Practicality – The seat and lid automatically open as you approach and close when you leave, reducing touchpoints. It is also ADA-compliant universal height and elongated bowl for easier sit-down/stand-up.

Warm Water Cleansing + Drying – Enjoy a front/mist/feminine wash, oscillating/pulsating spray patterns, adjustable temperature and pressure, followed by a warm-air dryer for a fully touch-minimal experience.

Water + Energy Efficiency – With dual-flush technology allowing 1.0 or 0.8 gallons per flush, you save water without sacrificing performance.

WITH GRATITUDE

We Did It

Thank you. To everyone who stood by me, lifted me up, and believed in me when it mattered most. Going to school while pregnant pushed me in ways I didn't expect. My teachers showed such kindness and understanding while classmates and family members offered encouragement.

It has been a long road.

After having my son, William, my family became my life boat. They nursed me back to health, held me together when I was exhausted, and stepped in to care for him with so much love. To those who watched him, played with him, and gave him a safe place to be while I studied, you gave me the ability to keep pursuing my goals.

Here's to the classmates who became friends, the mentors who guided me, and the loved ones who carried me through. I couldn't have done this without you.

You know who you are.

Thank you.
