Project Brief

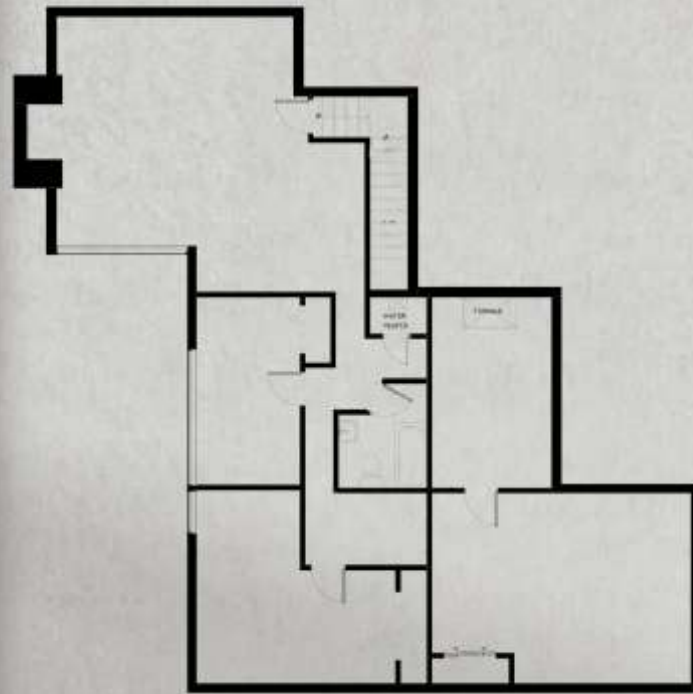

Florance and Willard Young are renovating their home in South Bountiful to finally build their dream home and reflect their love for Traveling. Florance and Willard Young loved the home's prime location, but the existing layout didn't align with their lifestyle or long-term vision. After years of imagining their ideal home, they chose to transform the property into a space that includes all the rooms and features they'd always hoped for. The remodel allows them to remain in the neighborhood they love while completely reimagining the house to reflect their personal taste and the way they live today. This vision led to a significant transformation of the original floor plan to better match their needs and goals.
