JENTRY SNOW
INTERIOR DESIGNER

HELLO.

DESIGN PHILOSOPHY

Interior Design, to me, is about creating spaces that tell a story, inspire curiosity and leave a lasting emotional impression. This portfolio reflects my passion for designing environments that embrace movement, rhythm, and organic flow within architecture and design, transforming spaces into experiences rather than simply places to occupy. I believe commercial interiors have the power to evoke feeling, spark, connection, and encourage moments of wonder in everyday life. Through thoughtful forms, dynamic ceiling features, natural inspiration, and intentional details, I strive to create spaces that feel alive and engaging.

I am also passionate about reintroducing color into the built environment whether through bold statements or subtle accents to bring warmth, personality, and depth to a space. In residential design, I believe a home should be more than a beautiful structure, it should be a sanctuary where families and individuals can gather, feel safe, strengthen relationships, and create lasting memories. In a world increasingly filled with cookie cutter homes and buildings, my goal is to design environments that inspire curiosity, celebrate individuality, and remind people that architecture and interior design can still surprise, delight, and move us.

AURORA TAPESTRY

IMMERSIVE WORKPLACE

CREATED WITH PROCREATE

BUILDING AXONOMETRIC

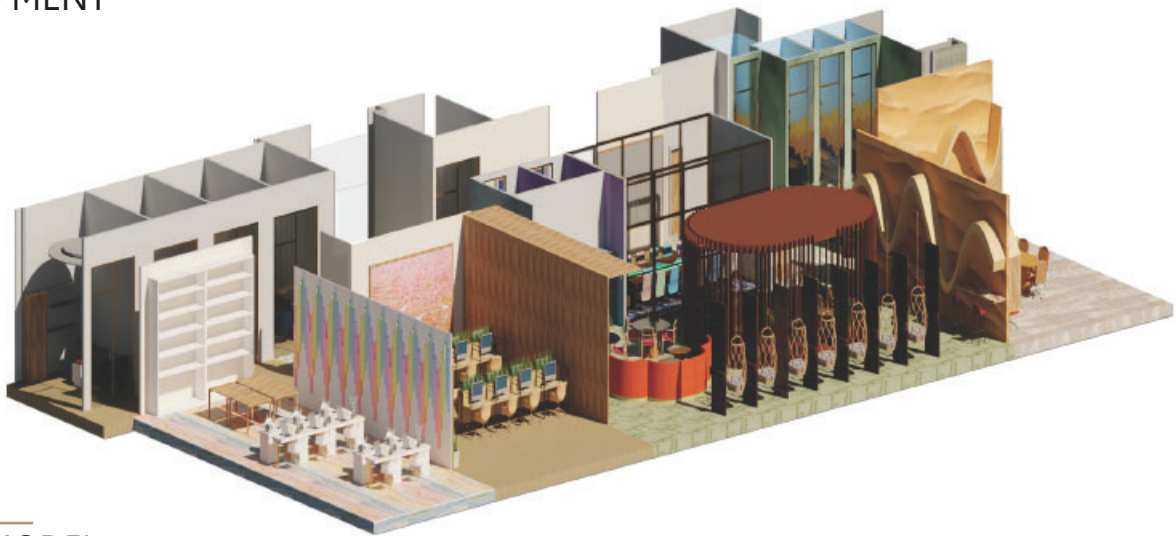

CONCEPT

Drawing from shifting dunes, ocean currents, mountain ranges, forests, and the Aurora Borealis. Aurora Tapestry transforms the workplace into a layered experience of color, rhythm, and movement. Sculptural forms, natural materials, and custom lighting create environments that support creativity, collaboration, and exploration.
