Conversation Tip

Don't over-interpret an individual's scores! Instead, help ensure individuals understand what is being measured, then invite them to draw connections between their scores and their experience via open-ended questions like 'How does that fit with your experience?', 'What is your reaction to that?' or 'Any surprises?'

Prompt Questions

1. When you evaluate your career options, what factors are most important to you?
2. How will you know when you've found a career path that aligns with your sense of purpose, or your sense of calling?
3. When you think about your ideal career, what do you imagine?
